If this mix or recipe is followed accurately approximately 1.9 lbs or 850 grams of product will be produced. The recipe will produce a finished feed with an energy content of 1.34 Kcals/gram. Thus, an average sized dog (9-20 lbs) would require approximately 500 grams (~ 3 cups) of this product per day, divided into two equal portion meals. The body weight and blood chemistry of the dog should be monitored regularly in order to ascertain that the nutrient intake of the dog is sufficient.
